Subject: RE: "winzoom" files in snapshot

Peter – the snapshot is comprised of a blind, dumb dump of the contents of cache/normal on 1/19/2017. As you know (I reckon), cache/normal is a replica of cache/boost, and cache/boost includes EVERY unique requested URL that can be generated. Where on God's green earth those URLs/files came from is anyone's guess. Who knows?

I can certainly delete them if it would help search results.

Do these look familiar to anybody? They are duplicates of the files without "winzoom=1" text.
